A TOTALLY DIFFERENT KING

Fr. Marce Singson

The idea of Christ the King is one that is very familiar to us, and yet Christ is very different from earthly kings. The kings we have heard of and read about in books have often had to win their kingdoms in the blood of battle. Frequently, one king met another in individual, mortal combat. The survivor was the victor. Though some kings displayed benevolence to their subjects, many kings became tyrants to their subjects. One thing all kings, no matter how powerful or extensive their kingdom, have had in common is this: death has been the end of their kingship.

How different is Christ the King! To begin with, Jesus did not win his kingdom in the blood of a battlefield, but “through his blood on the cross.” His enemy was not another king, but sin itself. Though Christ died in the struggle, it was Christ and not sin who was the victor. After his victory, Christ, far from being a tyrant, has shown that he is most benevolent to his subjects.

If Christ has already won the battle of his kingdom, and if his kingdom has so much good to offer to his people for their happiness, why is it that many people still fail to recognise and accept Christ as their King? Why is it that Christ’s peace, his love and his justice are not in great evidence in our world today? The reason is that sin, despite the victory of Christ, still has power in the world because people opt to do their will instead of God’s will.

The situation is like the one following the war with Japan. In that war, the decisive battle had been fought and won by the United States in the summer of 1945. On August 14, 1495, Japan officially surrendered. Though there was no doubt then that United States had won the war, some fighting continued in a few islands of the Pacific in what the military referred to as “mopping-up” operations. We are like people in the final stages of a war. Christ has fought and won the decisive battle against sin and evil, and we are now in the mopping-up period. We long for the day when this struggle will be over and done with, so that all people may enjoy the peace, love and justice of Christ’s kingdom. The Second Coming of Christ will mark the end of this transition period, and then will begin in all its perfection the eternal and universal reign of Christ the King!

WE REMEMBER

In our prayers all who have died recently,

Barry Lawson

ST EDWARD'S PARISH COLUMBARIUM

In October 22, 2016 Pope Francis has released an official guideline on how we care for the ashes of the deceased. The Vatican document says: "The ashes of the deceased must be laid to rest in a sacred place, such as in a cemetery or columbarium". It goes on to state that "it is not permitted to keep the ashes in a home or to scatter them in the air, on land, at sea, or in some other way. Nor may they be preserved in mementos, pieces of jewellery, or other objects." In short, the Vatican says YES to cremation but NO to scattering of ashes anywhere.

The release of the above Vatican Guideline was very timely because it has been my dream in this parish at St. Edward's to establish a Columbarium. I presented this dream when I called for a joint meeting with the Pastoral and Finance Councils late last year. It was unanimously approved with great delight. The above photo is the impression of our future parish Columbarium. It is not made of bricks but granite. It is now being manufactured by National Granite Pty Ltd in Sydney and will be transported from Sydney to Daisy Hill and the whole structure will be mounted at the nominated site. The location of where the Columbarium will stand is very important to me because it faces the Altar and this will remind the priest who celebrates the Mass, to pray for the souls named on the Columbarium; and the congregation, too, will be reminded to pray for the deceased members of their families, relatives and friends.

This Columbarium is divided into two parts: the 140 niches or holes where we place the ashes of the deceased; and the memorial wall (yellow part) which is composed of small plaques, around 150 plaques, where we put the names of our departed. I hope to finish this project before Christmas. I have appointed John Winter to supervise the construction of the Columbarium. And once the project is finished, John Guiton (who is a member of our Parish Finance Council) will take over as Parish Manager of our Columbarium. This means John Guiton is the first contact person for those who are interested to make reservations or for any concerns about the Columbarium. His contact number is 3299 5233, strictly during office hours only.

Application forms and Terms and Conditions are now ready for pick up, either at the Church, or from the Parish Office. For your convenience they are also available on our Parish website www.stedwardsdaisyhill.org.au. I am greatly indebted to our Parish Office Administrator Cheryl McCaffery, who was so quick in formulating the Terms and Conditions and other paper work, with the assistance of John Guiton and John Winter. Some sources of our Terms and Conditions and other paper work were drawn from the Archdiocese of Brisbane and from other surrounding parishes who have been managing a Columbarium for so many years.

Last Thursday and Friday we welcomed our 2017 Prep families and students. On Thursday night we shared some of the big picture information about our school and the Prep teachers for 2017 and on Friday the students shared a liturgy together and then had a go at classroom activities, heard a story and had a play on the playground. It was a wonderful opportunity to meet our new members of our community.

With only two week of school to go and there are so many wonderful celebrations coming up. You may want to mark our Christmas Play and Carols night in your diary. It is on Thursday 24th November at 7.00pm on the courts and is always a great community night. This year the students are performing a delight modern Christmas play.

Each Week 8 of the term we take time to think about ourselves, others and the wider community. Next week's events are around the theme "Putting the Pieces Together". It is a chance to reflect on some successful moments, think about how "Letting Love Live" has impacted each class and join together as a community to share some wonderful student talent! Below is a look at the week ahead....

We hope you all have a great week.....

Bronwyn, Brendan and Danielle

Putting the Pieces Together

"It's always the small pieces that make the big picture."

Term 4 Wellbeing Week is all about the magical pieces we have put together in our year of 'Letting Love Live' 2016

This weekend the Daisy Hill SVDP Conference is launching its Christmas Appeal, a project that helps the poor and marginalized in our community experience the joy and peace of the birth of our Saviour, Jesus. So far this year we have visited 166 families. Unfortunately we are not in a position to give every family a Christmas hamper, so we have decided to help families with children only. To do this we need your help to fill 60 baskets. We ask you for donations of Christmas food in the next couple of weekends as we are packing the hampers on Monday 28th November (the last week of school). We will be doing this on the school hall veranda starting at 9.00am (28th November) and again we would appreciate a couple of hours of your time to help with the packing.. Also SVDP Christmas Appeal envelopes are on the church pews if you would like to make a donation which can be used to purchase food items. Thank you for your continued support during the year and look forward to working together to help the needy in our community.

Christmas is a time for giving

We can use your postage stamps from your mail

The Salesian Missions use the old stamps that are passed on to them to raise funds. This goes towards Salesian Education and relief work in developing nations. Yes, the Post man does not have to stop by often, but on that rare occasion he does, and on that envelope, if there is a stamp, can you please pass this on to us, instead of throwing it in the bin? A small gesture, lending a big helping hand. We have placed a collection box for stamps in the parish office.
