“GIVE THEM SOMETHING TO EAT”

By: Fr. Marce Singson

No text in the New Testament has helped me do what I do as much as the story of Jesus' feeding of the 5,000. It might better be called the feeding of the 20,000, because there were 5,000 men, plus women and children. It's not just a literal miracle witnessed by thousands of people. It's also a parable with many lessons about the all-sufficiency of Jesus Christ to meet the vast needs of the world through His inadequate disciples. Although they were completely inadequate to meet the needs of this hungry crowd, they gave the little that they had to the Lord, who blessed it and multiplied it so that they could distribute it to the people.

This is the only miracle recorded in all four gospels, which shows its significance. The feeding miracle of the 5,000 men is reported in all four gospels so that we won't forget how much the Lord can do with little things that are yielded to Him. The feeding of the 5,000 precedes Jesus' discourse on being the living Bread that comes down out of heaven to give His life for the world (6:32-58). So it's also a miracle that points to salvation. John wrote this sign "so that you may believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing you may have life in His name"

Jesus could have called for manna to float down from heaven, He didn't do that. Why not? Jesus used this miracle and those that follow to train the twelve. John shows this by Jesus asking Philip (6:5), "Where are we to buy bread, so that these may eat?" The other gospels (Mark, Luke and Matthew) report that the disciples had asked Jesus to dismiss the multitude so that they could go buy their own food. But Jesus pointedly told the disciples (Mark 6:37), "You give them something to eat!" Here, John adds (6:6), "This He was saying to test him, for He Himself knew what He was intending to do." Jesus was showing Philip and the other disciples their woeful inadequacy to meet this need, along with His all-sufficiency. We also have to note that the five loaves of bread and the two fish came from a boy, and Peter said: "What is that for so many people?" This means Peter would have said: "That's nothing." So this miracle teaches us that ...

Christ uses inadequate people who surrender what they have to Him to meet the overwhelming needs of others.

Basic questions answered according to the Catechism of the Catholic Church.

Q. How was sickness viewed in the Old Testament?

In the Old Testament sickness was experienced as a sign of weakness and at the same time perceived as mysteriously bound up with sin. The prophets intuited that sickness could also have a redemptive value for one's own sins and those of others. Thus sickness was lived out in the presence of God from whom people implored healing.

Q. What is the significance of Jesus' compassion for the sick?

The compassion of Jesus toward the sick and his many healings of the infirm were a clear sign that with him had come the Kingdom of God and therefore victory over sin, over suffering, and over death. By his own passion and death he gave new meaning to our suffering which, when united with his own, can become a means of purification and of salvation for us and for others.

Q. How is this sacrament celebrated?

The celebration of this sacrament consists essentially in an anointing with oil which may be blessed by the bishop. The anointing is on the forehead and on the hands of the sick person (in the Roman rite) or also on other parts of the body (in the other rites) accompanied by the prayer of the priest who asks for the special grace of this sacrament.

Q. What are the effects of this sacrament?

This sacrament confers a special grace which unites the sick person more intimately to the Passion of Christ for his good and for the good of all the Church. It gives comfort, peace, courage and even the forgiveness of sins if the sick person is not able to make a confession. Sometimes, if it is the will of God, the sacrament even brings about the restoration of physical health. In any case this Anointing prepares the sick person for the journey to the Father's House.

The Eucharist also called Holy Communion or the Lord's Supper, (among other names) is a rite that is considered a sacrament. According to the New Testament, the rite was instituted by Jesus Christ during the Last Supper; giving his disciples bread and wine during the Passover meal, Jesus commanded his followers to "do this in memory of me" while referring to the bread as "my body" and the wine as "my blood". Through the Eucharistic celebration Catholics remember both Christ's sacrifice of himself on the cross and his commission of the apostles at the Last Supper.
